In view of feedback, I have decided to start the mini-polymath2 project at 16:00 July 8 UTC, at which time I will select one of the 2010 IMO questions to solve. The actual project will be run on the polymath blog; this blog will host the discussion threads and post-experiment analysis.

There is another forum set up to discuss the IMO questions at http://www.artofproblemsolving.com/Forum/viewforum.php?f=644
There is obviously nothing there yet, but there will be soon.

I suggest strongly that anybody interested in joining the polymath does NOT visit that link.
The questions are directly followed by answers and attempts at answers.

Did the mini polymath project stop ? Or, is there a possibility that it will begin once more, if we find good quality problems ?
