UCLA Math Undergraduate Merit Scholarship for 2013

Terence Tao · 15 November 2012

https://terrytao.wordpress.com/2012/11/15/ucla-math-undergraduate-merit-scholarship-for-2013/

tao2typ · converted to Typst 2026-10-14 (UTC)

[Once again, some advertising on behalf of my department, following on a similar announcement in the previous three years.]

Two years ago, the UCLA mathematics department launched a scholarship opportunity for entering freshman students with exceptional background and promise in mathematics. We have offered one scholarship every year, but this year due to an additional source of funding, we will also be able to offer an additional scholarship for California residents.The UCLA Math Undergraduate Merit Scholarship provides for full tuition, and a room and board allowance for 4 years. In addition, scholarship recipients follow an individualized accelerated program of study, as determined after consultation with UCLA faculty. The program of study leads to a Masters degree in Mathematics in four years.

More information and an application form for the scholarship can be found on the web at:
http://www.mathprograms.org/db/programs/136
and
http://www.math.ucla.edu/ugrad/meritscholarship.shtml

To be considered for Fall 2013, candidates must apply for the scholarship and also for admission to UCLA on or before November 30, 2012.

Comments (1)

Jyoti · 29 November 2012

Hello,
I applied for this scholarship last year. But unfortunately, I was not successful. This year, I am also planning to apply. Lets see.
Jyoti from Kathmandu, Nepal