Spending symmetry

Terence Tao · 18 November 2012

https://terrytao.wordpress.com/2012/11/18/spending-symmetry/

tao2typ · converted to Typst 2026-10-14 (UTC)

I recently finished the first draft of the last of my books based on my 2011 blog posts (and also my Google buzzes and Google+ posts from that year), entitled "Spending symmetry". The PDF of this draft is available here. This is again a rather assorted (and lightly edited) collection of posts (and buzzes, and Google+ posts), though concentrating in the areas of analysis (both standard and nonstandard), logic, and geometry. As always, comments and corrections are welcome.

Comments (9)

Spending symmetry « Guzman's Mathematics Weblog · 18 November 2012

[...] Spending symmetry. [...]

Ju'x · 18 November 2012

Page 95, line 3 : "similar, actually, to the approach taken in I took to the nullstellensatz in" should be rewritten.
[Thanks, this will be done in the next revision of the ms – T.]

h · 18 November 2012

May I suggest using hyperlinks for url's in the pdf file?
[Good suggestion; this will be done in the next revision of the ms – T.]

pgiacome · 18 November 2012

your productivity in terms of papers and book is sometimes scaring

Anonymous · 18 November 2012

Looks nice. The first chapter "argument from ignorance" describes some inferences that I think are called "abductive reasoning"; there is a good Wikipedia article with that title. I tried to hyperlink it but I don't know if that will work.

Arnaud · 19 November 2012

Page 47 Line 10 , "thus P" should be "thus Q"
[Thanks, this will be corrected in the next revision of the ms – T.]

windfarmmusic · 19 November 2012

Loving re-reading the long blue-eyed islanders post! Possible typo: Is there a minus sign missing on $M_{0,1}^-$, around "...From the perspective of K_1, it is possible that one is in the world $M_2(M_{0,1}$, in which I_1 does not have blue eyes..." ?

windfarmmusic · 19 November 2012

Never mind – it rendered wrong for me for some reason..

GARRY HERRINGTON · 27 November 2012

Thanks Terrence. I enjoy reading your blog and its great to have some posts saved in a convenient form.
Regards, Garry _____